

Explore Khao Sam Roi Yot National Park

Hua Hin

Discover breathtaking limestone cliffs, dramatic caves, sublime white sandy beaches and cruise the picturesque Gulf of Thailand.

Begin your day with a visit to a pineapple plantation en route to Thailand's first marine park, Khao Sam Roi Yot with limestone cliffs and the magical Phraya Nakhon Cave. Ascend the steep trail (430 meters) for incredible views across the national park and spot some of the hundreds of species of birds and other wildlife along the way. Witness the Thai pavilion, built for King Rama, dappled in sunlight piercing cave's roof. Cruise across the waters by boat, relax on the sandy beach and feast on a delicious set menu lunch.
