

In Search of Pink Dolphins

Khanom

Join a local expert in search of rare pink dolphins in the bays and waters around the sleepy town of Khanom, on board a brightly colored longtail boat.

Begin early, meet your captain who will navigate their boat, in search of a pod of pink dolphins known to inhabit the area. Learn about these endangered creatures, which despite ongoing illegal fishing practices and pollution continue to drop in number, however, don't enjoy protected status in Thailand. Make a visit to the tiny island Koh Nui and hear the intriguing legend of a Buddhist monk who made a freshwater source appear. Ascend to the top of the island to see a shrine with a statue of the monk, crafted from green marble overseeing the sea below.
